

Many of our projects are in the government realm. It is easy to become immersed in the federal world of Acronyms. While Here are a few bits from the alphabet soup and how they fit into our showcased projects.

SRP - Special Recreation Permit

Proposed fun on the public land might warrant a permit. Review BLM's site for the official requirements but generally speaking, large commercial, competitive and advertised events need a permit.

NEPA process to create the SRP and its stipulations

NEPA - National Environmental Policy Act

The NEPA process is designed to review proposed actions on the public lands and ensure the balance of the public's enjoyment of the public lands while protecting the natural resources.

EIS - Environmental Impact Statement

For really big projects like corporate gold mine or installing hundres of miles of pipeline, BLM's comprehensive review of all possible impacts as prescribed by the NEPA review process. The EIS the final document of these findings

EA - Environmental Assessment

For smaller projects like motorcycle races or even Burning Man, a fair review can be made with less involvement than an EIS. A single EA was created for to cover 5 Burning Man events from 2006-2010

Like with an EIS, the BLM holds meetings and solicits comments from the public when starting an EIS/EA, and again upon the publication of a draft EA.
